Veteran Telstar coach is new AD

Search still on for TMS principal

By ALISON ALOISIO

A new Telstar athletic director and dean of students were approved Monday by SAD44 directors, but the district is still searching for a principal for Telstar Middle School.

Longtime teacher Jim Lunney will become the new athletic director, taking over from Carroll Higgins, who retired this spring.

Lunney's position will be half-time. He will continue to teach, also in a half-time capacity.

Supt. Dave Murphy said that in addition to performing the basic AD duties, Lunney will be an asset in encouraging school spirit. When not coaching himself, Lunney has always been a regular spectator at Telstar sports competitions, Murphy said.

Lunney has been the varsity softball and golf coach at the high school, and will still be able to continue in those capacities, said Murphy.

The AD position is not considered an administrative one, Murphy said.

The board also approved Tamara Davis as half-time dean of students for TMS. She replaces Tom Riley, who has retired.

S.P. Shores homeowners unhappy with plan for further subdividing

By MICHAEL DANIELS

California developer Bill Glad was not at Monday's public hearing on his subdivision application for a lot on South Pond in Greenwood.

Nor was his local representative, Tom DuBois, of Main-Land Development Consultants.

But several members of the South Pond Shore's Homeowners Association were present, and they strongly opposed the idea.

The lot in question is approximately 5.7 acres in size and is located on South Pond Drive, at the Woodstock town line.

The lot is one of 52 lots in Glad's original South Pond Shores Subdivision, which was approved by the Greenwood Planning Board in 1986.

Lots in that subdivision are for the most part in the 5-acre-plus range, but all but one are prohibited by covenant from further subdivision.

The lot Glad is now proposing to break into three lots is that exception.

Some members of the association say they were told when they purchased their properties that Glad's intent was to have that lot used eventually for some sort of association building — in conjunction with the adjacent Abbott's Anchorage beach, which was also to be turned over to the association.

But Glad's recently submitted subdivision application calls for dividing the lot into smaller parcels, of 1.23, 1.35 and 3.1 acres.

Hummer gunner returns home

By ALISON ALOISIO

Josh Hamel, a 2002 graduate of Telstar High School, enlisted in the Army because, he said, "I'm patriotic."

The terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001 — coming at the beginning of his senior year in high school — played a role in his decision, he said.

When he went off for basic training at Fort Benning, Ga., Hamel, of Bethel, thought he might end up in Afghanistan.

Josh Hamel of Bethel on leave after 15 months in Iraq

At that time, an invasion of Iraq was only a topic of discussion.

But as 2002 turned to 2003, Pfc. Hamel and his comrades in the Second Armored Cavalry Regiment, stationed at Fort Polk, La., started to hear rumors.

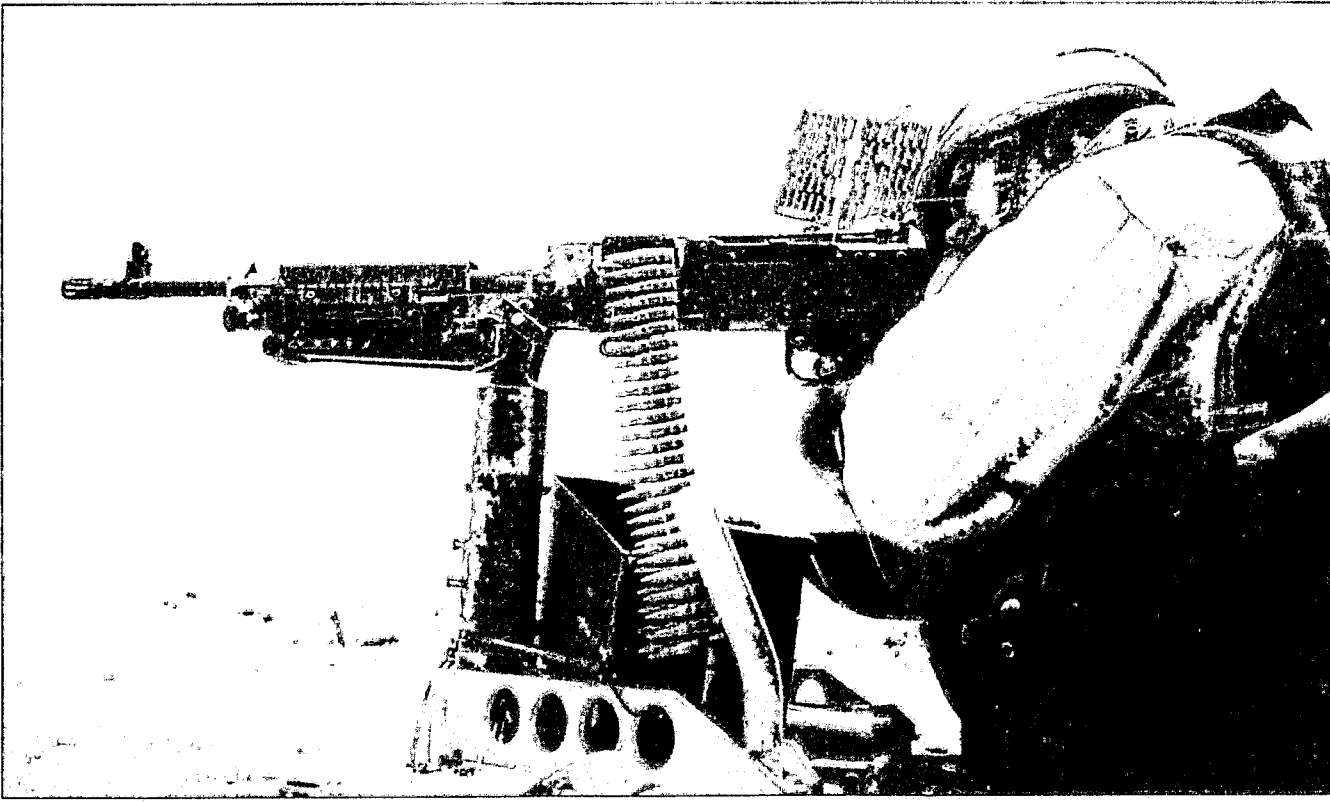

In February, the rumors turned to orders. And by late April, Hamel's Commanche Troop was on its way to Baghdad.

The tour of duty would last over a year, keeping him away from home until just last month.

Hamel said he and the other soldiers had looked forward to their Iraq deployment. "We were all excited," he said. "We thought we were going to have some fun."

His regiment landed first in Kuwait, then drove to Baghdad. Hamel was a gunner on a Humvee. The three-day trip to the capital city, coming a month after the initial inva-

Bethel selectmen want Airport Authority to come up with better process for dealing with leases

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The most recent hangar development project at the Bethel Airport is drawing to a close, but the contractual journey has been a bumpy one, nearly concluding with a lawsuit against the town.

Town selectmen are now seeking to insure that the experience is not repeated when future development proposals are put on the table.

Selectman Don Bennett suggested last week that the place to start is by regularizing the process by which development proposals are processed.

"You design some sort of process and stick to it, so that this happens in an orderly fashion. When that happens you have a guide to go by, and you can work through things without ending up in one of these predicaments," he said.

No one disagreed.

The current predicament referred to by Bennett involves two four-plane hangars built by Greg Webb.

The project began last year, following an occasionally contentious disagreement between the Board of Selectmen and BAA over how much to charge to lease the land under hangars built at the airport.

More recently, the project appeared on course to end with a lawsuit against the town for failing to pay a reasonable — in the eyes of the developer — share of the cost of grading and paving the approaches to the hangars.

On July 7, Webb's attorney, Peter

W'stock tax bills will be a month late

Reval needs to be completed before mil rate can be set

By ALISON ALOISIO

Tax bills in Woodstock will go out about a month late this year, delayed by the town's ongoing revaluation.

Residents approved $24,000 for the revaluation in a vote at the annual Town Meeting in March.

At that time, it was believed the process would take place in the spring.

But it was delayed. Town Manager Vern Maxfield said, because the assessing agent, O'Donnell & Associates, has been busy with revaluations in other towns.

Many municipalities have seen their property values rise in the past couple of years as the real estate market has heated up. The trend has prompted towns to undertake revaluations sooner than they might have otherwise.

WHY THE JAVA HOUSE CLOSED

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, July 20, the Java House closed quite suddenly. The reasons for this closing were many — some were within our control and some were not. The bottom line is that one individual in a nasty and vindictive action chose to exacerbate an already difficult situation and put five people, all local residents, out of work. This individual, typical of their type, chooses to remain anonymous.

We are sorry for this loss to the Bethel community. Diana Howe and all the fine folks who have been at the Java House over the years have worked hard to put out good food and coffee at a fair price, with a smile on their faces.

However, Frank Whittier and I are still trying to find someone local to operate the business and the building and continue the 10-year tradition of the Java House. Hopefully, this is only a minor setback, and Bethel folks will be able to enjoy sticky buns, bagels and good coffee again.

BOXTOPS THANKS

To the Editor:

Crescent Park School in Bethel greatly appreciates the Bethel Citizen readers' assistance with our Campbell's Labels for Education and General Mills Boxtops for Education programs.

This year, Crescent Park School received $1,046.40 from the General Mills boxtops for the Student Activity Fund. The Campbell's labels (10,418) are being saved to combine with points we earn next year.

Our thanks to Marie Witter, Clarice Gibson, Kelly Stone and Caroline Gould for their many hours of cutting and counting labels and boxtops.

Thanks to all the students, parents and friends for the fine job they did this year. It is so important to continue saving labels and boxtops during the summer to get a good start on next year's boxtops and labels programs. What a great way to help CPS (or any local school). Thank you, again, for supporting Crescent Park School.

BAND THANKS, NEW MEMBERS

To the Editor:

The Mahoosuc Community Band has now ended its parades for the 2004 season.

We are once again grateful to our trailer-patrons: Robert Lowell of Lowell's Saw Shop for the use of his trailer on Mollycokett Day, and Rocky Freda of Sun Valley Sports for the use of his trailer on Andover Olde Home Days. We are also indebted to our driver, Doug Webster. Without these trailers we would have to march and, given that precious few of us are of high school age, this would limit our numbers drastically.

The very best time for new members to join our band is the first Monday after Labor Day, Sept. 13, for on this day we set aside our summer repertoire and start to deal with the holiday season. We're all starting reasonably fresh on this.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Citizen welcomes letters to the editor. We hope our readers will regard the Opinion Page of the newspaper as a public forum for discussing any topic they believe to be of interest to the community.

Insofar as possible, we attempt to publish letters without alteration, but we do reserve the right to edit for length, libel, taste and readability.

We do not knowingly publish letters that have been submitted to other newspapers, letters to third parties or letters that endorse products. We do not publish letters that are unsigned. These guidelines will be waived, however, when doing so is deemed to be in the community's interest.

In situations where the letter writer has a political, economic, familial or other relationship that could be perceived as bearing on the topic addressed in the letter, we strongly suggest the writer make that relationship known in the text of the letter or after their signature.

In cases where the writer chooses not to do so, The Citizen reserves the right to make the relationship known.

The decision as to whether a given relationship is in fact relevant shall lie solely with The Citizen. In questionable cases we will disclose the relationship and allow our readers to judge the relevance for themselves.

When writing, please include your full name, signature, address and telephone number (so that we may verify author-ship).

The deadline for letters to the editor is 4:30 p.m. Monday. Letters submitted after that deadline will be considered for publication when circumstances permit.

Send your letters to: Editor, Bethel Citizen, PO Box 109, Bethel, ME 04217-0109. Fax: 824-2426. E-mail: news@bethelcitizen.com.

ROSS BEAN did his part to help out the community.

THANKS TO THE TOWN GARAGE CREW

To the Editor:

My name is Ross Bean. I would like to give great thanks to the Bethel Town Garage crew for allowing me to participate in community work such as working off of the Route 26 new road, raking and riding in the trucks. It's rewarding to be a part of the local community. Thanks again.

Subdivision

The largest lot would have approximately 350 feet of shore frontage but no road frontage. The two smaller lots would each have 150 feet or more of road frontage, but no shore frontage.

Had Glad opted instead to divide the lot into only two smaller parcels, he could have done so while meeting the various dimensional requirements of the Greenwood Subdivision Ordinance.

But the ordinance requires a lot to have at least 150 feet of road frontage, which the large lot in the current configuration does not have.

To deal with this, Glad applied for a waiver, asking for the board to allow the lot to be accessed by a driveway (or "doorway") through the two front lots.

He did so under the provision of the Subdivision Ordinance that allows standards to be waived "where the Board finds extraordinary and unnecessary hardships may result from strict compliance with this Ordinance."

At Monday's hearing, the board did not vote on the application, but it did discuss a number of problematic aspects of it — including the waiver request and concerns from the Greenwood fire chief about the availability of water in the winter and the ability of firefighters to get heavy equipment down the narrow driveway proposed in the plan.

'The developer has not held up to his original intentions. I think everybody knows that.'

RON SAVAGE

Members of the Homeowners Association also pointed out that under the town's Shoreland Zoning Ordinance, Abbott's Anchorage beach is too short to accommodate even the current level of development in the subdivision.

The ordinance requires that: "The use of any property for shoreland access for multi-unit development or for shoreland access held in common shall require a minimum shoreland frontage of 200 feet and an additional 40 feet for each structure or dwelling unit."

Adding further lots with deeded beach access, they argued, would only compound a current violation.

Association member Jon DeNormandie also complained of Glad's poor record of following through commitments to buyers in the original subdivision — especially in maintaining roads and bringing them up to state specifications. (The roads have since been taken over by the Homeowners Association.)

Another active local developer, Ron Savage, was at the hearing.

"To take notes for Tom [Dubois]," he said. Savage, who was involved in the sale of several properties in the subdivision, agreed with DeNormandie, at least on the matter of the roads.

"The developer has not held up to his original intentions. I think everybody knows that," Savage said. "A lot of attorneys have been involved over the years."

The Greenwood Planning Board is scheduled to meet again Monday, Aug. 16 at 7 p.m. in the Town Office meeting room.

The board is expected to take up the application at that time, according to Chairman Rodney Westleigh, if the developer or his representative appears.

Leases

Kaynor told the selectmen that unless an agreement was reached soon, a lawsuit would be filed.

The lawsuit now appears to have been averted.

Airport (and Town) Manager Scott Cole told the selectmen last week that the developer and the BAA have tentatively agreed to split the cost.

"It is the consensus of the authority that the total cost (estimate $28,000) of this work should be split between the town and Webb," Cole wrote in a memo to the selectmen.

Following some discussion the selectmen then agreed to also use airport funds to pay the cost ($7,760) of the earthwork needed before the area could be paved.

Last week's actions may not entirely resolve the matter.

Cole said the developer has floated the idea of having the BAA forgive rent payments for the next several years, "but that's not being discussed by the Airport Authority," he said.

"We're moving toward some sort of 50-50 resolution, and that's it," he said.

"Beyond that we work within the terms of the lease agreement, which means annual rent payments, the town has the right to assess for snowplowing around the hangar doors, and things like that," Cole said.

'Strict policy' called for Bennett said he did not want to assign blame to anyone for the manner in which the Webb project was handled.

But, he said, "We wouldn't be sitting here if the whole thing was done the way it was supposed to be done."

Fellow selectman Stan Howe called for the BAA to draft "a very strict policy, or procedure, that very clearly stipulates what's going to happen" when developments are proposed or leases negotiated.

Aviation members

Questions were also raised last week regarding the composition of the seven-member BAA board — specifically the number of members who are either pilots or in some other way "aviation related."

Prior to the recent resignation from the board of Randy Autrey, four of the seven members, a majority, were, or had in the past been, aviators.

The original language in the ordinance setting up the BAA limited the number of such members to "not more than three."

But when the town's various ordinances were consolidated last year into a unified "Code for the Town of Bethel," the language regarding membership on BAA was revised to read: "Three of the seven members shall be licensed pilots, aircraft owners or otherwise deemed by the selectmen to be associated with the aviation industry."

That wording places no upper limit on the number of aviation-related members, said BAA member (not aviation related) John Head.

"And that's a big difference," he said.

Cole, who oversaw the ordinance revisions, acknowledged the change, but characterized it as "a subtle change, an inadvertent change."

Bob Chadbourne, a former selectman who had been on the board at the time the BAA was formed, said having more aviation-related members on the board "could be a real conflict of interest," especially when it came time to negotiate leases.

"People could be voting on [a lease]," he said, "who will be negotiating on the other hand for a lease later on themselves. So they can get in and start a precedent here that carries over."

Dutch Dresser, chairman of the selectmen, saw a more mundane problem — getting a quorum.

"I think it's pretty messy right now, in that those with a conflict of interest step down, and then we can't get a quorum to hold a legitimate vote," he said. "I think there's a problem there that we need to work on."

Briefly

Fla. murders had local connection

WEST PARIS — A young woman who was one of six people brutally murdered in Deltona, Fla., was the granddaughter of a couple from West Paris. Erin Belanger, 22, was the granddaughter of Joe and Norma Reidy. Belanger and five friends were killed after she discovered several people staying in the Reidy's vacant winter home and called police to have them removed. Four men are accused of then going to another residence, where Belanger and the others lived, and killing all of them. The murders were reportedly in revenge for Belanger taking the squatters' video game system and some clothing back to her home.

Tax bills out mid-month

GREENWOOD — Town office staff expect to mail out property tax bills on Aug. 17 or 18. This year's mill rate is $17.50 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation, up from $16.75 for last year's. Bills paid within 30 days of mailing will receive a 2 percent discount, and will help the town maintain a steady cash flow and avoid short-term borrowing, according to Town Manager Kim Sparks.

Selectmen's meeting changed

WOODSTOCK — The Board of Selectmen will meet Thursday, Aug. 19 at 5 p.m., instead of the regularly scheduled Tuesday meeting for that week. The agenda will include a meeting with a representative from John O'Donnell and Associates to review new values, assessments and schedules in connection with the town revaluation.

AFD receives large grant

ANDOVER — The Andover Fire Department will receive $106,290 in grant funds from the Department of Homeland Security. A total of $651,239 has been awarded to nine departments across the state. The awards are part of the Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program. The funds will assist in fire operations and firefighter safety training. The grants are awarded to purchase new fire equipment, increase the effectiveness of firefighting operations, firefighter health and safety programs, emergency medical service programs and fire prevention and safety programs.

Route 26 work underway

REGION — The Maine Department of Transportation is making improvements to parts of Route 26 in Woodstock and Bethel this month. The work includes guardrail work at locations beginning several miles north of the Bethel-Greenwood town line and extending south to Norway. Work in Woodstock includes replacing culverts under the road, improving shoulders, updating guardrails and paving. The project begins about 2.5 miles north of Trap Corner and extends north for about 3 miles, to a location south of the intersection of routes 26 and 232. Drivers are advised to watch for work zones, which will require single-lane traffic.

Graduation tapes available

BETHEL — Videotapes of the 2004 Telstar High School graduation may be ordered from Channel 2 public access television. The tape is expected to be edited shortly, and copies will then be available. The cost is $10. Tapes may be ordered by calling 824-4123 or by mailing a check to Channel 2 Public Access, 284 Walker's Mills Road, Bethel 04217. Station manager Lainey Cross also said volunteers are needed to help with various tasks at the station. Anyone interested may contact her at the same phone number.

Report: mercury levels unsafe

RAYMOND — Almost 90 percent of fish taken from Maine waterways and tested for mercury as part of a federal study contained unsafe levels, a report by an environmental advocacy coalition found. The report, "Reel Danger: Power Plant Mercury Pollution and the Fish We Eat," is based on early data of an Environmental Protection Agency study examining chemical residues in fish. Agency officials said the study misconstrued data and left no reason to change recommendations on eating freshwater fish. The first two years' worth of data from the EPA study show that 89 percent of the fish samples collected from 14 Maine lakes contained mercury levels above the limit that environmentalists consider safe for women of childbearing age. Fish in waterways elsewhere in northern New England also tested dangerously high, the study found. About 75 percent of fish tested in New Hampshire and 100 percent in Vermont contained dangerous levels in mercury. Nationally, 55 percent of the fish sampled contained mercury at levels considered unsafe for women, and 76 percent contained levels considered unsafe for children under the age of 3. The report puts the safe limit at 0.13 parts per million for people who eat two fish meals per week.

Legion concludes fine season

AUGUSTA — The Locke Mills American Legion baseball team concluded its season Sunday with a loss to Portland's Nova Seafood in state legion championship competition. The Mountaineers finished with a record of 19-7 and put up its best post-season performance to date, winning two games in Augusta before being eliminated. The Nova squad that defeated Locke Mills went on that afternoon to win its fourth state championship in a row by beating Andrews Post. Locke Mills, coached by Chris Olson and Bob Remington, was the regular season Zone III champion.

Officials vow to lower taxes

PORTLAND — Seeking to blunt support for a proposed tax cap, officials in at least 18 cities and towns say they will use anticipated increases in state education money to lower property taxes. City Manager Steve Bost of Brewer, the first community to make such a pledge, said officials in at least 300 other municipalities will pass resolutions prior to Election Day that vow to lower taxes with the new funds.

Baseball project gets grant

WATERFORD — The Waterford Sandlot Project was recently awarded a $21,777 grant from the Baseball Tomorrow Fund. The money will be used to outfit the town's new baseball field and the girls' softball team. Organizers plan to purchase bases, bleachers, dugouts and a portable outfield fence system. The girls' softball team will receive a complete set of equipment. The Sandlot Project is an effort of parents and community volunteers who are reclaiming a ball field on town-owned property. The Baseball Tomorrow Fund is a joint initiative between Major League Baseball and the Major League Baseball Players Association. It is designed to promote and enhance the growth of baseball throughout the world by funding programs, fields and equipment purchases to encourage and maintain youth participation in baseball and softball.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Monday, Aug. 9

At 11:40 p.m. Officer Ovide Richard observed a vehicle in the Route 2 rest area leaking gas. There was a male subject in the back seat sleeping. The officer woke him. The Fire Department was called to put down "Speedy Dry." The driver was also advised not to drive the vehicle with gas dripping on to the exhaust pipe. He was given some Speedy Dry to put down if needed.

Sunday, Aug. 8

At 3 p.m. Officer William Britting received a report from the Gorham, N.H. police of an eastbound vehicle on Route 2 forcing oncoming vehicles off the road during illegal and dangerous passes. It was located in the construction zone in West Bethel. The Bethel officer did not observe any illegal operation, but the vehicle had defects, including a broken windshield and inoperable taillight. Nicholas Babikian, 18, of Falmouth, was given a summons for numerous defects.

Wednesday, Aug. 4

At 11 a.m. Chief Alan Carr received a report of a subject soliciting trip tickets for a cruise ship at very discounted rates. It was determined that the person represented a legitimate organization.

teacher at the school, will also serve half-time as Title I math and reading teacher. She also has certification as an assistant principal.

"She's a natural person to follow in Tom Riley's footsteps," Murphy said.

He said the district is fortunate to be able to hire an in-house candidate to provide continuity "in a time of change."

No TMS principal yet
SAD44 is also seeking a new principal for the middle school.

The position has been resurrected for this school year, after several years of having one principal oversee both the high and middle schools.

But, said Murphy, finding a new principal hasn't been an easy task.

"We've made phone calls, gone over old applications and had a few interviews," he told the board, "but I don't feel comfortable making a recommendation."

Murphy said he believes it is worth waiting "to get the right person for it."

He said he hopes to have a recommendation for the board's next meeting, on Aug. 23.

Tax bills

In Woodstock, tax bills would normally have gone out at about this time. Instead, they are expected to be sent around the week of Sept. 13, Maxfield said.

That could leave the town a little tight on cash in the meantime, he said.

Maxfield said the town can tap money currently in reserve accounts.

"We can use it (by vote of the selectmen) to get us over the hump. We won't be forced to borrow. As soon as the taxes start coming in, we'll put (the money) right back where it belongs."

The town's largest immediate expense would be the

If no one is found by then, he said, he might consider starting the school year with an interim principal.

Salary agreements

Also on Monday, the board reached a three-year agreement with the current five-member administrators' bargaining unit.

Under the plan, the administrators will receive 1-, 2- and 3- percent raises, respectively, for each of the next three years, according to Murphy.

Newly hired CPS principal Judith Whitman will be paid $72,000 for next year and $73,440 for the following year of a two-year contract, Murphy said.

She has a doctoral degree and 20 years of administrative experience.

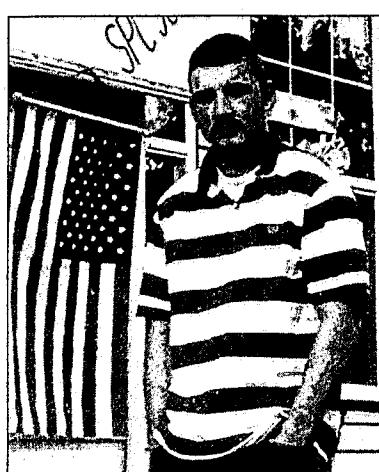

Agreements were also reached with other staff not covered under union negotiations, such as supervisors and some central office personnel.

Those employees will receive a 3.5 percent raise in each of the next three years.

All the agreements were unanimously approved by directors.

sion, was pretty uneventful.

That soon changed. In Baghdad, he said, "you'd hear gunfire all the time." He and his troop were assigned to Sadr City (formerly Saddam City, a hotbed of current resistance), in eastern Baghdad.

Their assignment was to guard a United Nations complex.

Early on, the reception from the Shiite residents of the city was hostile, Hamel said, but not totally unexpected.

"We expected they wouldn't like us. They threw pineapples and tomatoes at us," he said. "They thought we were trying to make it a religious war [to force Christianity on the country]."

But, he said, the children were different. Many of the youngsters the soldiers encountered shortly after their arrival were friendly.

Finding the enemy

Hamel participated in "rolling checkpoints," driving the roads of the city at night. The soldiers learned to watch for the tactics of the insurgents — hiding weapons in mosques and on women, both considered off limits to the Americans.

One night, Hamel's troop encountered a group of men and a woman on the street. They searched the men and, despite objections, the woman.

"She acted sick and then fell to her knees," he said. "And an AK-47 fell out of her shirt."

The gun was confiscated, and the group warned and released.

The physical environment could also be an enemy, Hamel said — "the heat and the sand." The hottest day he experienced topped out at 139 degrees. The soldiers patrolled with coolers full of ice to keep their water bottles cold.

Sleeping arrangements improved as time went on. Hamel slept first on the hood of his Humvee, then in a bunker, and finally in a tent. They eventually got TV access by satellite, which helped pass the off-duty time, he said.

Working with the Iraqis

Hamel and some of his comrades became friendly with a former Iraqi policeman, who went by the name of Alan.

"He spoke English, and he'd come over and talk to us," said Hamel, when they were on patrol. The soldiers suggested he enlist in the Iraqi Civil Defense Corps, which had been set up to transfer more security responsibilities to the Iraqis.

Those who signed up, said Hamel, did it primarily for the money.

"We'd go through town on patrol with them," he said. "There'd be four guys on a truck, and they'd be the fifth."

Hamel said the Americans were able to develop a better relationship with the local population in two nearby smaller towns than they had with the people in Sadr City. They helped with delivering supplies of water and food rations to the townspeople.

"We'd shake hands and talk with them a little," he said.

But the kids, open and friendly in the early days, developed some bad habits. "They'd ask for food and throw rocks," said Hamel. "We'd give them food and drive off, and they'd still throw rocks."

Despite the mixed reception from the people, Hamel thinks the American troops have made a positive difference.

"I think we helped the economy. We helped build up the roads and cities, and the water plants, so they could have running water," he said.

RPGs

One of Hamel's most dangerous encounters while on patrol came in early April of this year, shortly before his troop was scheduled to come home.

Insurgents had taken over a police station in Sadr City. At about 8 p.m. one evening his platoon, accompanied by several tanks, was designated as the advance party to approach the station.

"There were 16 of us," he said. As they prepared to walk toward the station, a rocket-propelled grenade (RPG) hit nearby.

"We returned fire," he said, aided by night vision goggles. "There was small arms fire coming from the top of the building. The tank started shooting back. It lit up the top of the building. They stopped shooting."

He said in such situations, there wasn't time to be afraid. "The adrenalin is pumping, and you're thinking, 'We've got to get them,'" Hamel said. Later that evening, in another area, the soldiers had gotten off the tanks to stretch their legs when they met with RPG fire "from every direction."

Hamel and the others quickly got into the tanks. The explosions continued nearby and, he said, "you could hear the 'ding' of the AKs off the tank." The shooting eventually stopped, with no injuries to the Americans in Hamel's unit.

The violence had happened as Hamel's regiment prepared to turn their duties over to another troop. The ACR was scheduled to fly home April 14.

But then word came they would be delayed. They were needed in Al Kut, an hour south of Baghdad, to help Hungarian, Polish and other foreign troops stop an uprising.

Morale, which had been mostly good before, "dropped to an all-time low," said Hamel. "But, we said, 'you know what — we just have to do it.'"

As it turned out, things settled down pretty well in Al Kut, he said.

In May, Hamel even got four days of R&R at one of Saddam's palaces in Baghdad's Green Zone. "I went swimming in the pool, and I could eat what I wanted," said Hamel.

Home at last

Finally, in early July, Hamel and the ACR came home to Louisiana. He arrived in Maine July 24.

He has another year in the Army, but does not expect to go back to Iraq unless he reenlists — or is kept in the service as part of the "stop-loss" measure imposed by the Pentagon.

Some military personnel have been prevented from leaving service as scheduled in order to maintain troop strength. Hamel said he could be kept in the Army until 2007.

He said he supports the military effort in Iraq. "If we don't fight them there, we'll fight them here," he said.

No one in his unit was killed during their deployment. And Hamel said that while he shot back at Iraqis in self-defense, he doesn't know whether he personally killed anyone.

Happy parents

Hamel's parents, Marilyn and Keith, are very relieved to have him home.

"It's been a long 15 months," said Marilyn. "We're thankful for the support we've had," she said, from family and friends who said they kept Josh in their prayers.

Marilyn said while she hopes her son won't have to go back to Iraq, she's trying to be optimistic that if he does, the situation will be a safer one.

Whatever the future holds, she said, "We're very proud of him."

GOOD OLDE TIME
IN ANDOVER

The annual Andover Olde Home Days took place this past weekend. At right, Ellie Dickson 4, of Freeport, Carl Cuff, 6, of Andover and Megan Goding, 5, of Mexico enjoy jumping in Andover's new space jump playground, which made its debut at the event. Far right, 9-year-old C.J. Chase of Andover proudly shows her father Bob and brother Kevin, 6, her flower arrangement that won her a second place ribbon. Jewel Bailey, 18 mo., is in the backpack.

Juanita Haines was recognized Aug. 3 at the Summit Hotel, Sunday River, by the Maine State Food Service for 30 years' service at SAD44.

Musa Brown is home from Market Square Health Care Center, South Paris. Her daughter, Nancy Brown, will be with her for two weeks.

Neal Bodwell of Florida spent the weekend with Sally and Paul Bodwell.

Grace Douglass, Freda Davis, Linda Westleigh and sister recently attended a show at the Brunswick Music Theater.

On Aug. 2, the Bohr family got together at Lakewood Camp on Richardson Lake to belatedly celebrate Ken's 85th birthday. Family members came from Florida, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Ohio, California and Bethel. The only one missing was a granddaughter who is studying in England. Ken received a scrapbook of pictures from his daughters and letters of appreciation from everyone.

Lt. Col. Tony Butters, wife Kathleen and daughters,

Keeley and Alyssa, have visited his mother, Muriel Butters, for the last ten days. Lt. Col. Butters is stationed at Scott AFB, Ill., where he is commander of the 375th Operations Support Squadron. He'll be deploying to Manas AB, Kyrgyzstan, supporting Operation "Enduring Freedom" on Sept. 1 for four months, where he'll command an Expeditionary Operation Support Squadron.

The Bean family reunion was held Saturday, Aug. 7, at Charlie Bean's on the Sunday River Road.

Rachel McKnight of Jericho, Vt., is spending the week at the Keniston camp at Songo Pond.

George and Danna Nickerson spent Saturday with Kate and Chad Dumais at their home in Livermore.

Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge will host a club championship on Aug. 13. All bridge players are welcome and encouraged to join in the game. Play begins promptly at 9 a.m. to ensure a timely finish. Winners for Aug. 6 for North-South were: first, Woody Mercier and Henry Deutsch; second, Nancy Woods and Mimi Bell; third, Pam and Errol Libby. For East-West were: first, Eleanor Griffin and Jim Dickens; second, Misha Tomic and Les Buzzell; third, Marta Clements and Nancy Farmer.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte
There was a good mixture of weather over the weekend. Intermittent sunshine prevailed. It occurred about every half hour throughout the days.

Many Uptonians migrated over East "B" Hill to neighboring Andover for their annual Olde Home Day celebration. It was great. The parade, the bands, the common filled with various vendors of crafts, yard sales, silent auctions, photography exhibits, chicken barbecue, cookie walk, and so much more. Our all-time favorite is the Flower Show at the Historical Society. Carolyn Taylor, Cyndi Williams Rebash, Diane Williams Bouchard, Ellie LeComte, Jennifer Casey and Jeanette Roy all participated and received ribbons for their arrangements. Liz Stanczyk won the bid for a day at Forest Lodge, former home of Louise Dickinson Rich on Rapid River. It was a great day to greet old friends and enjoy Andover's hospitality. We thank the Historical Society and Bev Swan for inviting us to enter the Flower Show.

I met up with Joan Stinson Carney and her mother at the Photography exhibit, and we had a grand chat. Her mother attended school in Upton for three years, many years ago. It seems that Joan is acquainted with some occasional visitors to Upton, the Poy family. The Poy's are not your average "cookies" and could probably qualify for "Bird of the Week." I met them out on the lake once fishing for horned pout. The strange thing is, that it was high noon. Horned pout don't bite when the moon is full, either.

Margaret Mitchell has been the "Hostess with the Most-est" this past week with many visitors. Her daughter Jackie, granddaughter Wendy and great-granddaughter Sara, and their friend, Sara Russ, all visited from Lebanon, N.H. They were a great help to Margaret, helping with yard work and camp chores. Margaret's sister, Ethel Dorr, and her children, Ed Presby and Liz Jansson, came up with Sara to help Margaret plan the annual Ellingwood Homecoming for Aug. 22 at her Back Street Camp. The Cameron family from Nashua also spent three days at their camp on Back Street. Richard and Jerry spent the weekend in Upton.

I thank Margaret for keeping me informed about the folks on the upper side of Route 26. The Craft Ladies met at the Ladies Aid on Tuesday. Last week's projects were Christmas ornament wreaths by Simonne Lavallee and a stuffed snowman. Christmas in August was appropriate because it was not a warm summer day.

C.J. and Barbara Stratton, Joan and Dave Miller, Ellie and Richard LeComte attended the Open House at the new Northland Restaurant in Berlin on Monday.

August the 9th, Sue and Dick Angevine, Joan and Dave Miller also attended the restaurant Open House. The very popular old restaurant burned down last year, much to the sadness of the people who frequented it. Lionel and Jeanette Roy, son Peter and daughter-in-law Joan have opened a very grand restaurant to replace the treasure that was lost. It is spacious and bright, sectioned into different areas for special events. The restrooms are state of the art with "no touch" facilities. The ice cream window area is surrounded by a very large deck. C.J. Stratton commented that the kitchen at the Pentagon was not nearly appointed so well. One word applies, "Magnificent."

All the equipment is ergonomically structured for the safety and comfort of the employees, some of which have worked for the Roys for over 23 years. Good Luck, Best Wishes, and Bon Appetite!

Since I am in the restaurant mode, we wish to thank the chef and waitresses at the Bull Moose Restaurant (up the street from Upton) for their patience when 16 people from Upton showed up for dinner at the same time on Saturday night.

The "Bird of the Week" is the cormorant that is white-washing the rock off Brewster Island. He is also "Dirty Bird" of the week, replacing the geese.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

I was at a banquet recently that took place at a private school. As always seems to happen to me, midway through the meal nature called and off I went to answer.

I expected to find a typical public bathroom with multiple stalls, but I guess being a private school they take privacy seriously and the bathroom was one room with one flush, one sink and one gigantic mirror.

Now, I'm sure that with the number of young girls attending that school an oversized mirror is appreciated. However, in a room the size of that one there was nowhere a mirror that big could be placed without it being in close proximity of the toilet.

That may be fine for teenagers and I can't speak for other adult people, but there are certain things that I don't care to see myself do. Hoisting up my panty hose on a very hot, humid evening ranks pretty high on the list.

First, I felt a bit embarrassed at seeing myself so up close and personal even though I was in a locked room all by myself. Then I felt a bit silly for feeling embarrassed. Then I realized that every woman that used the ladies' room that night probably felt somewhat the way I did.

The next morning I was explaining the sticky situation with the mirror to my coworkers, which, as well as a few laughs started a discussion of other public bathroom nightmares.

After the discussion I went to my desk and checked my email and was stunned to find that someone had sent me a picture of a public bathroom that exists in Sweden. Or at least I think that is where it is.

The coincidence of the email, in light of the conversation I had just been engaged in was one thing, the picture of the bathroom was something else all together.

First off, the fact that other countries actually have public bathrooms located on the sidewalk I find amazing. Can you imagine not having to search for a gas station, restaurant or store that allows the public access to relieve themselves of their burdens? For that matter, can you imagine what it would be like with children who seem to have the need to inspect every bathroom wherever they go? My word, you'd be stopping at every street corner.

It was not wise to scream in an airport bathroom.

But I digress; I was talking about the email bathroom. From the outside the facility looked like a small, mirrored shed. It was constructed entirely of reflective glass, even on the roof. Inside, however, the user had the experience of being in a room of clear glass. One could see everything on the outside. I'm not sure that I could do what I needed to in such a bathroom. Performance anxiety would be overwhelming.

Well, that got me wondering about other public bathroom possibilities so I did a little Internet research. I found that the bathrooms at the Shoji Tabuchi Theater in Branson, Missouri made the Taj Mahal look like a shanty.

The ladies' room has a fountain, wainscoting, stained glass appointments (whatever they are) and an Empire tin ceiling. Live orchids are placed at every granite and onyx pedestal sink. The fixtures are carved for black Italian marble and gold. The tin ceiling is enhanced by huge crystal chandeliers. And to top it all off 80,000 fresh violets are used per month to freshen the air. I don't think I would want to do anything that ends up in the sewer in a room like that.

The men's room is not too shabby either with black lion head sinks, black leather chairs and a marble fireplace. The burled walnut mirror is said to have been built in 1868. If the gentlemen using the facility have to wait their turn, they can occupy their time with the hand-carved mahogany billiard table. I guess they don't get the orchids or violets, but I'm sure they don't mind.

Don't take my word that such luxury exists for the simple pleasure of relieving oneself. You can check it out online at "thebathroomdiaries.com" web site. Just click on the Golden Plunger icon. There really is such a website.

I'm sure that I will never encounter such bathroom beauty in my lifetime. I probably wouldn't know exactly how to use it anyway. Of course, I do know how to use a bathroom and have for many years, but some public bathrooms can be a bit confusing.

Have you ever used the self-flushing ones like they have at the airport? I've had a few unpleasant experiences with these sensor-beamed demons. The first time, I didn't know about the magic flush trick and as I was searching for the handle the darn toilet did its thing and scared the bejeezers out of me. I thought it was going to explode and I screamed. It was not wise to scream in an airport bathroom.

I'm sure everyone has a public bathroom horror story to tell. Like no toilet paper when you need it most or pieces of it stuck to your shoe as you walk through a crowded restaurant or shopping mall. There are the really dirty bathrooms and Porta-Potties at very crowded events. The long lines to the ladies' rooms, the short lines to the men's rooms (a topic for another column.).

It's too bad all of us couldn't use facilities like the beautiful bathroom in Branson, Missouri. I know I will never have the experience, but if the occasion ever did come about, the way I see it I would be absolutely flush with anticipation.

Home Days 50/50 Raffle was Shiena Bryant. The winner of the Andover Public Library's 50/50 Raffle was Janet Farrington.

Parade float winners: first, The Farrington Clan; second, Andover Fire Department for Future Firefighters; third, Mills Market; fourth, Akers/Cummings Families; fifth, Andover Service Circle; sixth, Bancroft-Andover Farm Baseball Team. Clown winners: first, Brooke Wardwell; second, Dorsey Bryant; third, Garrison Bryant. The Andover Service celebrated their 30th anniversary by having the float and won a green ribbon, which made them all very happy.

Flower Show Contest Coordinator Gerry Savitz reports that the winners of the Flower Show were: Flower Gardens: first, Sharon Hutchins; second, Eileen Pew; third place tie, Jennifer Pitcher and Kathy Conrad. Flower Gardens under four years: first, Kathy Conrad; second, Jennifer Pitcher; third, Angelo Kaltos; fourth, Marsha Burns. Container Gardens: first, Carol Holtzman; second, Eileen Pew. Vegetable Gardens: first, Jim Coolidge; second, Tim and Shelly Downs; third, The Pew Family; fourth tie, Richard Gallant and Chris Bailey. Flower and Vegetable Gardens Mixed: first, Dinah Cutting; second, Tim and Darlene Akers. Youth Gardeners: first, Taylor and Katie Merrill; second, Lisa Gammon. Judges' Choice Special Awards: Violet Swain for Hollyhocks' Excellence and Jere and Carol Melzar for Horticultural Excellence. The committee wishes to thank judges Susan Herlihy, master gardener of Bethel, and Cindy Bush, nationally certified flower judge from Harpswell. Twenty-two gardens were entered.

The Amateur Photo Exhibit was a huge success. Judge Angelo Kaltos says we broke a record with 241 photos on display. He did a fantastic job as judge. Exhibitors from 14 towns in Maine, New Hampshire, Georgia and California were represented.

I was very happy to see the "Upton Lady," Eleanor LeComte. Boy, has she lost a lot of weight, she is my hero. Eleanor, the Poy family says "Hi."

The Best of Show winner was Ronnielle Pelletier. Grand Prize winners were: 10 and under, Courtney Carlson, age 10, from Dixfield; 11 thru 16, Brienne Bailey from Andover. Animal Category, Corrina Roy from Roxbury; Landscape, Walt Cunningham from Dixfield; Portrait, Ronnielle Pelletier from Andover; Black and White, Elaine Morton from Andover. Now I have to brag, I won third place in the Animal Category for my photo of my "wonder cat" Meanie. I'm so proud.

Robert and Violet Swain held a lobster/steak feed for their family at their cottage on Roxbury Pond on Aug. 5. Attending were Robert, Kay and Lucie Swain from Lexington, Ky; Courtney Swain from Wichita, Kan.; Rodney and Jennifer Swain from Jericho, Vt.; Gregory Swain from San Francisco, Calif.; Leigh Breidenbach from Roxbury Pond and Farmington. Ross and Kim Swain were unable to attend.

A new hardware and agricultural supply store has opened in town. It's located at 56 South Main Street, in the Andover Automotive Building. It's still a work in progress, and you can call Michelle at 392-1700 for more information. I do know that they are closed on Mondays. Good luck, Michelle. It's great to see new businesses in town.

Here are a few new uses for Q-Tips that I just have to share with you. You can use them for little barbells so you don't have to overexert yourself. You can use them to clean the quills of your pet porcupine. You can use them to shoot out of soda straws at flies and mosquitoes. They can also be used as toothpicks for people with wide gaps between their teeth. And last but not least you can use them as cannon plungers for your miniature cannons. See ya.

A week ago Sunday Ralph and I left after church to go pick up Marcia at the Irving Station in Farmington. Her husband, Jon Smith, treated us all to a lovely lunch and then he headed back to Easton and we brought Marcia back to visit for a few days.

Unfortunately, Lorene was not able to go with us as she was taken ill at church and Debbie and Owen brought her home. I tried to convince her she was working too hard to get things ready and she would pay for it, but who listens to Mommy dearest.

Anyhow, we had a good visit with Marcia; but, of course, it was altogether too short. Lorene, Ralph and I took her to Newport on Saturday where we met up with her husband, Jon, and we all had lunch at a local restaurant.

Jon and Marcia continued on up the Interstate to their home in Easton and the rest of us went on to Bangor where Ralph and Lorene did some shopping. It rather amazed me that Jon and Marcia got home before we did. At least this relieved me from the worry about Marcia being left off for an hour with no shelter on a street outside of Brunswick, in order to change buses.

When we got home I had a message on my TAD from Dan Hatch that they were coming to Bethel to hear a brass band that Carol's cousin-in-law, Jim Bennett, was playing in and would I like to join them; which, of course, I would have ordinarily but was a little too tired after the long trip to take them up on it.

I did manage to get hold of them, and Carol tells me that they are building a house in Turner. Finally, they are actually going to live close enough so I may get to see her once in a while. I am delighted.

Debbie Brown took her father, "Pip" Cummings, to Stephen's Memorial Hospital, Thursday evening, where the surgeon removed some steak that had lodged in Pip's esophagus.

The procedure went well and he was sent home but his temperament rose drastically during the night, and Debbie took him back about two in the morning where they admitted him with a form of pneumonia, which sometimes develops after procedures such as he went through. They have since found infection in his blood, so he spent several days in the hospital before he could be released. He is now recuperating at home.

Marcia and I were in the parking lot of the Foodliner when we met up with Elinor Mills Murphy and her daughter Kathy, who were camping this week. Those descendants of Bertha and Clayton Mills who could, have come every year to camp for a week or two, which keeps the families from becoming strangers to one another; and, as one of them put it, "we don't end up meeting each other only at funerals." Sounds like a plan to me.

Last week, I saw the Canada geese with their three young ones who are now all feath-

NEW WEST PARISH MINISTER

The Rev. Virginia "Ginger" Rickeman is the new minister at the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel. Rickeman most recently served as a minister in Minneapolis, Minn. She holds a Master of Divinity degree from the United Theological Seminary in New Brighton, Minn., and describes herself as a "born and bred Congregationalist." Her first career was as a homemaker, and she is the mother of two adult sons. Rickeman grew up in Massachusetts and summered in Boothbay Harbor. She enjoys gardening and knitting.

ered out and look like smaller versions of their parents but not much smaller. It is amazing how fast they grow. I guess they have to because the water out back of the house is much like it is in September instead of the first of August. I do hope this does not herald things to come and we see snow in October. It seems as if every year the weather gets weirder. Or maybe it's me.

Lucy has really enjoyed Marcia's visit, as she has taken her for a lot of walks and vice versa. Marcia always did love to walk, a phenomenon she got from her father, I think. He loved to tramp in the woods and to walk to work. I got bravely over that after I got out of high school. I have too many other things I had rather be doing, unfortunately those that do not require a lot of exertion on my part, which is not the healthy way to go.

News flash: (I've always wanted to do that.) On July 24 Crystal Lake had a baby shower for her daughter-in-law, Jessica, but because Jessica is in Florida with her husband, Brent, she was not able to attend. Crystal invited family members and had them bring unwrapped gifts.

Jessica was able to phone during the shower and everyone had a chance to speak to the mother-to-be. As each person showed the gift they brought, Crystal took their picture and then had the pictures put on a CD. The gifts were placed in a suitcase along with the CD to be flown to Florida with Jessica's mother, Ruth, and her sister, Jamie, who were flying down the next day to visit Jessica and Brent in hopes to be there at the blessed arrival of their little puddle (small Lake). Al Lake, who has become quite a baker since his retirement, made the shower cake.

And now for the rest of the story: On July 31, Al and Crystal Lake received a phone call from their son, Brent, stating that Jessica was in the delivery room at the hospital, and that they would have access to a phone in the delivery room.

After calling the delivery room about every hour, Crystal decided to go to bed about 11 p.m. She woke up about 6 a.m. with the phone in hand and pressed redial to see how the mother-to-be was progressing. From 6 a.m. to 6:43 a.m. the Lakes were able to hear the entire delivery and even heard their grandson, Hunter Brent Lake's first cry. "WOW!" (A direct quote from the excited new grandparents.)

Crystal and Al will be flying to Florida on Aug. 10 to meet the new bundle of joy and spend some time with the proud parents.

— traveling to Alaska with Snuffy, Mona and the Perhams. As I write this we are sitting in our pickup on the waterfront at Dawson City, Yukon. We are in a long line of motor homes and RVs waiting for our turn to board the ferry that transports vehicles across the mighty Yukon River. There are only three bridges spanning the Yukon in its 1,900-mile journey to the Bering Sea, none of them here. I wonder how they cross in the winter.

We are on the 11th day of our trip to Alaska, and we aren't there yet. We're only 65 miles away, so we should get there today. I didn't realize it was so far from Maine to Alaska, 4,062 miles so far.

It has been an adventure so far, but the prairies of Canada are very broad between Winnipeg and Dawson Creek. I began to think we'd never get here. It took us nearly three days to cross Ontario from east of Granby, Quebec, to Thunder Bay and on to Winnipeg, Manitoba.

We've seen lots of wild critters—bison, deer, black bears, a bull elk, several moose, a black fox, a huge trumpeter swan (I think) and innumerable other birds.

(Continued Aug. 4). We've been so busy until late at night I haven't had time to write—at least not while I'm still conscious. The sun stays up until about 10 p.m., and by then we are all ready to sack out. By now, we have been ocean fishing, river fishing, lake fishing and "crick" (creek) fishing. Not a lot of fish, but a lot of enjoyment and scenery. I have heard and have been told that Mt. McKinley in Denali National Park is usually only visible top to bottom on a few days out of the year. Yesterday and the day before were crystal clear, and we could see the entire range of mountains, including McKinley, from the Denali State Park immediately adjacent. Joe Perham tells me that our vantage point on this trip was closer to Mt. McKinley than you get from within the national park highway.

We find in Alaska that Wal-Mart has a worthy competitor. It's a large department store chain called "Fred Meyer." These stores appear to be just as big as "Wally World" and have tailored their inventory more to Alaskans' needs. Plus they allow you to camp in their parking lots for free including water and a dump station.

Traveling with Peg and Joe Perham has also been a joy. One can never anticipate what sort of incident will spark an interesting conversation. Like when Peg came out of the ladies room at our Dawson Creek campground. She asked Mona if she noticed the woman's feet in one of the stalls. Mona said, "Yeah, why?" Peg said, "Well they were there when I went in to take a shower. And they were still there when I came out, and in the same position. So, I decided to check her out and see if she was okay. When I opened the door to her stall, I found out she wasn't a woman at all, but a dummy, sitting where the stool should have been. And to top it off, she had gloves on and had one finger over her mouth as if to say, 'shhh.'"

As I said, it has been an interesting trip so far.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman
It was great to get a phone call with news from the North Road. Roxanne Corriveau wants everyone to know that on June 1 Jana Mason of Gilead and Waman Mills of Lewiston became the proud parents of a son, weighing 8 pounds, 5 ounces and measuring 21 inches long. He was named Tresdon Alexander Mills. At present Jana and her children, Haiven Mason, age 4½ and Tresdon Mills, 2 months, are residing with her parents, Roxanne and John Corriveau.

On July 3, the family of Roxanne Corriveau brought their dad, Robert Mills, home from Ledgeview Nursing Home, where he is now a resident, for the day to celebrate his 79th birthday (actual birthday, July 2). The event was held at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Bonnie and John Marshall. Many family members and friends attended.

On July 13, Roxanne Corriveau celebrated her 50th birthday at her home with her grandchildren, Logan, Haiven and Devin Mason and Tresdon Mills and her daughter, Jana, who put on the event, and her husband, John Corriveau. Then on July 18, Roxanne celebrated with her siblings and families and other adult family members with a barbecue, cake and ice cream and lots of added extras. Her daughter, Jana, also put this event together.

Logan Mason, age 4½, son of Scott Mason Jr. of Rumford and Wendy Houghton of Carthage, spent the past week with his grandparents, Roxanne and John Corriveau, and Aunt Jana and cousins, Haiven Mason and Tresdon Mills. While he was there, his little brother, Devin Cole-Mason, son of Scott Jr. and Maire Cole of Bethel, came to spend a couple of days. They all enjoyed some days at the beach and park, among other activities.

John Corriveau is keeping very busy in his construction business. He is currently working with Jeremy Morin (Jerbeck Construction) and Anthony Morin. At present they are constructing a place out in Evergreen Valley. John gets tired of the long ride.

Looks like things are busy on the North Road. I had an e-mail from Jack Pucak and Bruna Piccin. She writes: "We just got back from a three-day motorcycle trip with my cousin, Tim Gobin from Ontario. I had met Tim once about 45 years ago (and don't remember that visit). Tim and a friend rode their motorcycle here on Wednesday and stayed for a short visit. We took them to see the sights around the area and shared some good food and wine. Then on Friday morning we headed west along with Rob Rizzuto and a friend of his. We took a scenic route through the White Mountains of New Hampshire and the Green Mountains of Vermont before taking the ferry to New York from Burlington. We landed in Canton, N.Y., for the night. In the morning my cousin and friend headed home to Kitchner and we headed to Newport, Vt., for the night via some gorgeous scenic roads (some a little wetter than we had hoped!). On Sunday, we headed home, arriving just before the driving rains."

CELEBRATING A CENTURY OF LIFE

About 150 relatives from as far away as California and Florida gathered July 14 to help Bethel resident Ersel Murphy celebrate her 100th birthday. An old-fashioned ice cream social was held at the Mundt-Allen Legion Post in Bethel. Five generations were represented at the party. Murphy was a nurse for many years, as well as a homemaker. She has been a very active member of the Bethel Church of the Nazarene.

News on the new fire truck. It arrived Aug. 4, and after the firemen looked it over, they headed to Bog Brook Training Facility to attend an Extrication demonstration being put on with Bethel Fire Department for the Young Marines, and to show it off, of course. On Aug. 6, the representatives from USDA Rural Development arrived to present the grant money, for the new truck, to the town. Those present from Rural Development were Michael Aube, Maine state director; Alan Daigle, area director; and Bobbi Arnold, specialist, Community Programs. Bobbi has worked closely with the town to make this happen. Members of the town present were: Beverley Corriveau, Hugh and I, and Fire Department members Ken Cole, chief; Richard Saunders, assistant chief; Sue Saunders, Trevor Gilbert and Randy Grondin.

On Aug. 7, members of the Fire Department went to Andover Olde Home Days to be in the parade. Those attending were: Steve McLain, Randy Grondin, Richard and Sue Saunders, and Fabian Corriveau. Steve drove the truck in the parade and they received the trophy for the newest piece of fire equipment present that day.

An update on the trash on the North Road. I have had a couple of people mention that, since reading the news, they are stopping to pick up trash, and Cynthia was sighted one day continuing with the quest for clean roadsides.

Some more news from the Dupont family — Gerard Dupont, Andrew Dupont, Aline Dupont and Lise Dupont. McLain went to Edna Dupont's memorial mass on July 25. Afterward, they went to Jennifer Stowell's home in South Rumford for a Sunday barbecue.

Lise McLain of Gilead and her father, Gerard Dupont, also of Gilead, attended the car show at Andover Olde Home Days this past weekend.

Keep the news coming. Call 836-2987, e-mail chapman@hotmail.com or drop off a note at the house.

North Newry

by Gil Seeley

Call to worship was held Sunday morning, Aug. 1, at 9 a.m., at the Newry Community Church with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ.

Thought for the day by Sue Wight, "Keep talking about Jesus." Scripture readings by the Faithfuls. The message of the day was: "The Kingdom of Heaven" from St. Matthew 13 and 24.

"He said unto them; because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the Kingdom of Heaven, but to them it is not given. The Kingdom of Heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seeds in his field."

A prayer followed, communion, hymn sing, benediction, postlude, amen.

Here it is August already. Summer is almost gone and almost time for school to start. It doesn't seem possible.

Well we have had another tragedy happen in our town. Leland Kangas, a friend and neighbor to everyone, is being missed by a great many people. He had worked a long time for our town on the road. He did a good job at anything he undertook and saved our town a lot by doing the mechanical work on the equipment. He was Alan's right-hand man. Our sympathy goes out to his mother, wife and family.

Timothy Curtis and daughter, Jessell, visited me and also his Aunt Marie and Uncle Albert Sunday.

Tuesday morning about 3 a.m. I heard a noise outside and my security light came on, and what did I see but a big bear taking down my bird feeder, and he broke it up. He sure is a huge bear. I've seen a lot of them but he's the largest.

My son-in-law, Stephen Cogswell, came up today and took me to Lewiston to my foot doctor.

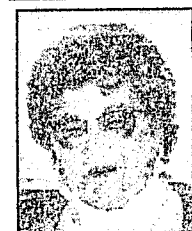

Albert and Marie Curtis went down to the viewing of Leland Kangas tonight, as they are unable to go to the services. Marie Curtis goes to Portland to see her mother as often as she can. Iva Bragg has been in the hospital there for several days.

Here is a very good idea,

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. Not much news this week, but will try and get something out.

Thursday, Aug. 12, is the annual Turkey Supper at the Stoneham Church vestry from 5 to 6:30 p.m. This is always good, so get there early. July 21 was the last bake sale and thrift sale. All the donations and help were surely appreciated and many thanks go to the Rev. Diane Wood from Mexico who oversaw and worked on it this year. It is a lot of work and more help was needed.

Loretta Andrews continues to be at the Market Square nursing home in South Paris. Cards and visits might be nice. Monday, Aug. 2, Frances Grant and I went to Norway to do errands and got Marilyn Jones and visited Loretta. We all had a nice visit.

Don't forget new Waterford-Stoneham Lions Club members (and anyone else who would like to join) the potluck supper and meeting on Aug. 18, Wednesday, at the Wilkins House in Waterford, 6:30 p.m. supper and meeting.

Now, if anyone is interested, I found out that the annual Chicken Barbecue is to be at North Fryeburg Fire Station on Aug. 14. This is 1 to 6 p.m. This is always good.

There are so many car accidents lately it seems. Why oh why don't the young people slow down when driving. We heard some people fooling around early Monday morning in the wee hours, with firecrackers it sounded like.

We were sorry to learn of the death of June Starbird of Waterford. Our thoughts and sympathy go out to her family and friends.

Also, Lawrence A. Anderson Jr. of Las Vegas, formerly of East Stoneham, died July 24 at Desert Springs Hospital. He was a son of the late Lawrence and Arlene Anderson. Our sympathy and prayers go out to his family and friends.

Merritt Kimball is another person who died recently and our prayers and sympathy go out to his family and friends. I remember him coming to my folks' farm with his father when they had cattle. That was when I was a little girl (yes, Albert, I said little).

What a nice change of weather today. Now I must get this off in the mail and maybe feed the poor little hummingbirds. They're waiting.

Neil Olson's Trappers' Weekend is Aug. 27-29, for all those interested in trapping.

Brenda Marshall of West Paris, her granddaughter of Locke Mills, Joyce Marshall of West Paris, James Haines and friend Darren of Gray visited Charlene, George and Lisa Haines on Aug. 8.

Florence Hastings' family is planning a big 100th birthday for her on Aug. 14 at the farm from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Harrington/Remington Reunion will be on Aug. 15 at Arlene Harrington's home. This is a potluck affair for dinner.

I have a Russian blue tomcat that visits each morning, and with Earl Coolidge as well. I do hope he has some people nearby.

The last service of the summer at the East Bethel Church will be on Aug. 22 at 2 p.m., with Ben Conant as the pastor.

The Grange supper schedule is as follows: Aug. 21, smothered beef with corn on the cob; Sept. 11, roast beef with mashed potato; Oct. 23, harvest supper; Nov. 13, turkey supper with all the fixings. All suppers but the turkey will have baked beans, salads and pies. Adults will be $6, under 13 will be $3.

Have a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

Wow! Is it ever red in the western sky.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

The Westies baseball team has had a great year. They have won most of their games. The last one played, so far, was won 7-6. This is quite an accomplishment, as you must be at least 25 years old to play, but most of the Westies team are much older. They do a good job.

After the game Sunday, our grandson, Doug Wing, came and paid us a nice visit. We hadn't seen him in quite a while and miss him a lot. He works with his father, Rick, doing electrical hookups.

We were saddened by the death of Leland Kangas, who died in a motorcycle accident. Much sympathy to his wife and family and many friends. He'll be greatly missed.

Richard has been keeping busy doing some painting on the house.

Congratulations to Diana Poland Dunn and Jon Dunn on the birth of a baby girl, Allison Elizabeth, born July 29, weighing 7 pounds, 6 ounces. Diana and Jon live in Surprise, Ariz., and have two boys, Brandon and Jarod.

Diana is the daughter of Todd and Lynda Poland of West Paris and Terri Angevine of Bethel. Diana is in the Air Force. Great-grandparents of the new baby are Phelps and Joan Poland of West Paris and Frank and Christine Campbell of Woodstock.

Several family members who traveled to Arizona to see the new baby were Joan Poland, Terry Merrill and Lynda Poland. A few days later Phelps and Todd Poland joined them in Arizona. Phelps, Joan, Todd and Lynda went to visit Phelps' sister, also my sister, Dottie Critser, in Tempe, Ariz. I'm so pleased that they all got to see Dottie and the new baby.

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb
Last Saturday was a busy day in West Paris. The Historical Society held a large sale at their building along with a food sale. A light lunch was available at noon. To the delight of avid readers, across the street the library held a book sale.

A large crowd gathered at the Innans on High Street for an auction. It was a busy weekend all about town.

On Sunday, Aug. 15, the Rev. Herb Adams will be the speaker at the West Sumner Universalist Church. He will speak on "The Transforming Power of Purpose." All are welcome. Refreshments will be served after the service.

The Hope Garage Sale will be held in South Paris on High Street on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 13 and 14, at 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. The barn in back of the Hope building is full of goodies. There is something for everyone. This is to benefit the nonprofit organization for "Healing of Persons Exceptional."

This week I took Myrtle Cadinelli to Portland to see Dr. York. All went well. We enjoyed dinner at the Cole Farm Restaurant in Gray. The interior has been redone but the food is still as good as of old.

Ann Goulding entertained 21 family members at a party at her home in Sumner.

Elaine Blossom of North Branford, Conn., is at her sister Jeanne Whittemore's in Norway and visiting family and friends in the area.

Florence McLaughlin, Mel Young and I attended a double birthday party in Waterboro at the Flarety home to celebrate Molly Flarety's third and cousin Emily Hyssong's first birthdays. Each received many presents and each blew out the candles on her cake. Many cousins, aunts and uncles, grandparents and great-grandparents were present for the cookout. The weather was perfect except for one brief light shower. We each got to hold Kelly and

As a town, we wish to offer our most sincere condolences to the family of Leland Kangas — wife Debra, daughter Kimberley, son Billie, mother Lena, sister Sandra, and two brothers, Arthur and Richard, and several nieces and nephews. He was a member of the Fire Department, Kora Temple Shrine and the Masons. He had always been active in sports and coached baseball, softball, etc., as his children grew up. He also was an avid racing enthusiast. He won four times as race car champion at Oxford Plains Speedway. His race car number was 71.

He also enjoyed both hunting and fishing. He worked for the town of Greenwood. Most of all he was very much a family man. He will be very much missed by not only his family but by his whole community and all who knew him. I remember Leland as one who always smiled and had a great interest in any and all activities of the school, alumni and community. We all shall miss him.

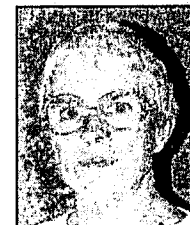

August is here, the gardens are growing, berries are ripening. Daily Vacation Bible School is ongoing, and regular school is just around the corner. Where has time gone?

West Paris Grange 298 met at their hall for a regular meeting on Thursday, Aug. 6. The next meeting will be the annual Grange Cookout at the home of Earl and Amy Andrews on Allen Hill Road in Oxford, with a 5:30 p.m. cookout supper followed by the planning of next year's program.

The monthly West Paris Grange supper will be held at their hall, 4 Church Street, at 5 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 21. The prices are $6 for adults and $3 for children. Come on out and enjoy a good home-cooked meal. There are real good cooks in these hills.

Hope to see you all next week.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School and Adult Bible Fellowship at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., no choir practice during August, evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 is prayer meeting. Thursday at 9 a.m. is Ladies Bible time.

On Saturday, July 31, the Class of 1959 from Woodstock High School celebrated their 45th year reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cole, Greenwood. A potluck lunch was held with a good time of fellowship. Eight of the 12 living class members were present.

Franklin Grange 124 will hold Ladies Night with a 6 p.m. supper on Monday, Aug. 16. Mary and Larry Billings watched the hummingbirds and goldfinches at the feeders out back of their house a while ago. Mary and Larry have had quite a bit of seafood lately. They love it.

Randy Bennett identified an old print of a covered bridge Larry Billings has. The bridge disappeared years ago. Kathleen Bean, Curator Larry Billings and Mary Billings watched the Historical Society Museum recently. Annella Burnham helped at the museum on July 31. Kathleen Bean looked up something in the Antique books, Mary Billings worked on the town reports and Curator Larry Billings supplied a big fan. A man from Nashua, N.H., came in who once worked with an old phone system there. Thanks to society members who have helped watch the museum this summer.

The Historical Society Museum has books on Maine wildlife, flowers and gardening. Years ago people were much more in tune with nature and many were born or grew up on farms. They have many implements and books on farming in the museum. Curator Larry Billings polished the silver coffee service at the museum. It was getting quite tarnished. The museum contains a fine collection of exhibits. The society undertakes ambitious projects considering the small group of active members. Why don't you join and help out.

The picnic at the meeting on Aug. 14 will start at p.m. This will be held before the Historical Society meeting.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

The weather continues to be as changeable as always. I like that it is hot one day and then switches back to cool. That gives us all a taste of what we like.

The garden appears to like it, too. We have mega veggies. If anyone wants some beans, lettuce, peas or chard, give a holler. Starting by the time you read this we'll have summer squash and zukes, too. The tomatoes continue to ripen — that's Dave's division, as I do not eat them. I think they are doing well. Green peppers, not so good; hot peppers, good. Corn should be ready soon. Yum.

There is a toxic chemical seminar tonight at 7 at the Norway Public Library. Sounds like it would be worth attending. FMI: 336-2064.

Don't forget the Waterford Post Office's new hours begin this week. The new hours beginning Aug 13 will be: the window will be open Monday-Friday from 8 to 12 a.m. and 1:30 to 4:15 p.m., and Saturday, 8:30 to 11 a.m. The lobby will be open Monday-Friday from 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Saturday 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. I don't know about anyone else, but that means we might actually make it to the post office on Saturday.

This weekend, on Aug. 14, 5:30 p.m., the East Stoneham First Congregational Church will have a Chicken Pie Supper. Cost is $6 adults and $4 under 12. Menu includes rolls, mashed potatoes, veggies, cole slaw, coffee, punch and dessert. Sounds good.

Need to congratulate Katlin Gatchell of Waterford for her achievements and her write-up last week. You go girl. Condolences go out to the family of June Pauline Starbird on their loss.

Congratulations go to David Jr. and Rosemary Hart on the birth of their daughter, Madison Rose Hart. Madison was born Friday afternoon and joins brother David Hart III, Cassidy Perkins and Ryan Perkins. Good luck to all.

I went to the home of Eileen and Mike Broderick on Sunday after work to attend a reception for Mike Michaud. He gave a great speech and it was well attended.

After that, I went to help David close up the Tri-Town (Bethel) transfer station. For those waiting to hear, Waterford won for the month of July with 10 1,000-pound bins to Bethel's six. Way to go, Waterford. I take little credit. Bob did almost all of the stacking

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township.

This past weekend saw the families of Edna York, Muriel Butters and the late Florine Bowden up for their annual family reunion at the camp on Lovejoy Mountain Road. The driveway of Bud Bowden (Florine's husband) looked rather like a used-car lot. It was so nice hearing "Bye, Grandpa" even as late in the weekend as Monday night, as the last visitors made their way home.

Don't forget that next Thursday is the church's next supper. Seating starts at 5:30 p.m., so you may want to arrive early to make sure you have a seat for the first sitting. There usually is a second seating.

Best wishes and God Bless for a happy and safe week.

She can be reached at julieblackbearbb.com, or by calling 824-0908. She'd love to have visitors pop in to meet her, so please do that. The new Web site is www.bbbarbanb.com.

Selby Bullard has also joined. She is going to be opening a nail salon soon. We will keep you posted on the location and the services Selby is planning to offer.

All are welcomed to attend two upcoming networking events: our monthly Networking Breakfast and monthly Business After Hours.

The breakfast is scheduled for next Wednesday, Aug. 18, at the Bethel Inn and Country Club's South Dining Room. The guest speaker is Katie Stewart, district ranger of the White Mountain National Forest, who will be talking about the process of offering public input into the 15-year forest revision plan. All are welcomed and an RSVP to 824-2282 is appreciated no later than Tuesday, Aug. 17. A $5 buffet breakfast will be available.

The August Business After Hours will be held at Deertrees Theatre in Harrison on Wednesday evening, Aug. 25, from 5 to 7 p.m. Free refreshments, wine and beer will be offered and an optional theater performance following. A $5 donation will be appreciated for the performance, which will be earmarked for student theater scholarships. The chamber office is happy to arrange for carpools; please give us a call.

A reminder that the annual Guidebook ads deadline is approaching. We need to have space reservations in by Aug. 20, with all ads going to our designer by Wednesday, Aug. 25. Many thanks.

From the

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

The Post and Auxiliary have not been completely idle during the summer, with the Post having its Bingo games and the Unit its monthly supper/dance. The Auxiliary also purchased gifts for those at the Veterans' Home with July birthdays and had that party on the third Tuesday of July. Some also helped when the Oxford County Auxiliary gave the party in June.

The last regular meeting took place in June following the state Legion and Auxiliary Convention, and as Rowena Dunham was not present at that time it was necessary to find a time and place to present her with the awards she won at the convention. As several members would be present at the Union Church in Locke Mills, it was decided to make the presentation following a service there. Kelly Bickford had the honor of presenting her with a ceramic angel and plaque for her Unit History and another plaque for having the best Veteran's History project.

The regular meeting schedule will resume with the family picnic on Aug. 19 at 5:30 p.m. at the Legion Hall followed by meeting if needed. Hot dogs, hamburgers and corn-on-the cob will be furnished. Members attending are urged to bring something to share — salads or desserts, etc. It would be great to have a good attendance, and members are urged to get their 2005 dues in by that time. It has been learned that the dues will be going up on Sept. 1 by $2.50 for senior members and $1 for juniors, so money can be saved this year by paying before September.

At this time the Auxiliary is working on a Red Cross blood drive that will be at the Legion Hall on Monday, Aug. 23. Some Post members are helping and Franklin Grange 124 in Bryant Pond has been invited to assist as a Community Service project for that organization. It will take place from 1 to 6 p.m. and blood is badly needed at this time of year when there are traditionally fewer donors. Walk-ins will be welcome, but it is better to have an appointment time.

From

Bethel Parks and Recreation Committee

The Youth Soccer Program (ages 5-12) will be held Saturdays, beginning Sept. 11 at 9 a.m. at Telstar Regional High School. Cost to Bethel resi-

You may pick up a registration form at the Bethel Town Office or online. Please turn in your form and payment to: Town of Bethel, 19 Main Street, Bethel, ME 04217. FMI: call 824-2669. Come learn some basic soccer skills and have a ton of fun.

From

Oxford County Democrats

State Sen. Bruce Bryant has planned a series of campaign planning meetings throughout District 14 in collaboration with candidates for the House of Representatives as the fall campaign season approaches.

On Tuesday, Aug. 17, there will be a regional meeting in Waterford at 7 p.m. at the Waterford Town Office, hosted by Lynn Baker. Individuals from the towns of Waterford, Lovell, Sweden, Stoneham, and Albany Township are welcome to attend. House candidates Roy Gedat of Norway, Tim Carter of Bethel, and Margaret Reimer of Bridgton will also be present. The agenda will include plans for the Bryant and the House campaigns as well as coordination with the Oxford County Democrats activities and the Kerry and Michaud campaigns.

Earlier Bryant for Senate meetings were held in Jay on Aug. 4, Buckfield/Hebron on July 27, and the Rumford area on July 29. Additional gatherings are being scheduled. For further information on the campaigns of Sen. Bryant, Marge Medd for Senate and the House campaigns of Rep. John Patrick, Terry Hayes, Linda Petrie, Tim Carter, Roy Gedat, Kathleen Dougherty, Marlee Turner, Gordon Fuller, and Margaret Reimer, visit the Oxford County Democrats Web page at www.oxforddems.org or call County Chairperson Cathy Newell, 875-2116.

The Oxford County Democrats were well represented at the Olde Home Days in Andover on Saturday with floats, decorated vehicles and walkers representing the campaigns of Sen. Bruce Bryant, Rep. John Patrick, House candidates Linda Petrie and Tim Carter, as well as including materials from the John Kerry campaign and the reelection campaign of Congressman Mike Michaud. The booth on the common featured a variety of materials as well as chances on a handcrafted seine fishing box made by Nookie Boivin of Jay, a supporter of Sen. Bryant.

WATERHOUSES CELEBRATE 75TH—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer (Eda Wilson) Waterhouse recently celebrated their 75th Wedding Anniversary with a weeklong gathering of the celebrants and their family at the "Maine Houses" in Bryant Pond. The festivities started with a reception and refreshments at the Hope Thurlow Hall, followed by Devotions at the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Perkins Valley. The greeters were their three children, daughters Gerri Austin and Gloria Fleming and son Dwight. The speaker for Vespers at the church was their nephew, Pastor Lloyd Waterhouse. The celebration was organized by granddaughter Patty Murray.

Several local Democrats hosted parties on Sunday, Aug. 8, for Congressman Mike Michaud, including an event at the New Suncook School in Lovell, planned by Toni Segar, a house party at the Bethel home of Mike and Eileen Broderick, and a house party at the Buckfield home of Mike and Stacey Raymond. The congressman was in attendance accompanied by members of his staff and by Sen. Bryant and Oxford County Chairperson Cathy Newell. House candidates Margaret Reimer, Tim Carter and Terry Hayes attended the events in their districts.

Congressman Mike Michaud will attend the official Grand Opening of the Mexico Field Office on Main Street in Mexico at the intersection of Routes 2 and 17 on Thursday, Aug. 19, at 1 p.m. A work party to reorganize and decorate the office will be held on Thursday, Aug. 12, at 2 p.m. Julie McDonald is scheduling chairperson for the Mexico office. Individuals who would like to volunteer may contact the office at 369-0020 or vote04@midmaine.com.

The Norway office is open on a regular basis on Mondays and Tuesdays 1 to 4 p.m. and Thursdays and Fridays 4 to 7 p.m., as well as Saturday day mornings 9 a.m. to noon. Individuals wishing to volunteer may contact Hilary Ware at the office at 739-2504 or vote04@megalink.net.

A fresh supply of Kerry materials is expected at the Norway and Mexico offices by Aug. 17. Materials are also available by contacting Cathy Newell, 875-2116. Dan O'Connor, the Kerry staff person for Oxford County, is interested in hearing from individuals interested in assisting in a variety of campaign activities. Individuals may contact the campaign at 837-3809, or go to the Web site, www.johnkerry.com.

FACES

FACES (Families/Friends And Consumers for Education and Support), a group for families of persons with mental illness and/or their loved ones, will begin meeting after a very long hiatus.

The free weekly group sessions will include personal support, formal and informal discussion, monthly education programs and planning fundraising strategies. Local, well-known family members/facilitators, Diane Farnum and Rhonda Buker, will once again lead the meetings with help from Melissa Fallon.

Diane is the parent/foster parent of six children (some who are now adults) with various mental health needs. She has been involved in Maine's mental health system as an advocate, a family educator, public speaker and legislative activist. She has a degree in social service from the University of Maine and has held several professional positions within the mental health field including program design and management, education and training. Diane currently does independent training and consulting and is an emergency crisis clinician with a local mental health agency.

Rhonda is also a parent of two children with special needs. She has extensive experience within the mental health field both professionally and as a volunteer. She is currently working one-on-one at a developmental pre-school with a child who has significant disabilities.

Melissa is the parent of a little girl with autism. She has recently become involved as an advocate and/or support person for persons with mental illness and/or other disabilities.

If your life is impacted by mental illness, Diane, Rhonda and Melissa would like to invite you to join them each Tuesday night at Beacon House, 150 Congress Street, Rumford, from 6 to 8 p.m., beginning Sept. 7. You don't have to do it all alone anymore. There are people who care, people who can help and people who really understand. For more information, call Rhonda at 824-3076 or Melissa at 364-0878.

From the White Mountain National Forest

The White Mountain National Forest's Wednesday Night With A Ranger program on Aug. 18 features Conservation Educator Rob Fallon presenting "Leave No Trace." Whether you like to hike the backcountry for days on end, take shorter strolls through the woods, or just prefer a wayside picnic on a sunny day, if you love the outdoors then you should follow these simple techniques for protecting the land for the next visitors. Can you build a campfire without leaving a black scar behind? Can you enjoy wildlife without putting yourself in danger and disturbing the critters? Can you leave your campsite, trailhead, swimming hole, or picnic area better than you found it? Outdoor enthusiasts of all ages can learn the principles of Leave No Trace and do their part in conservation.

Ranger programs are presented by the Forest Service every Wednesday evening beginning at 8 p.m. at the Appalachian Mountain Club's Pinkham Notch Visitor Center on Route 16, 11 miles south of Gorham.

Programs are free and all local residents, campers, and visitors are welcome. Programs are about an hour long and include time for conversation about the evening's topic or any other national forest issue. Complimentary popcorn is provided.

For more information, call the Androscoggin Ranger Station at (603) 466-2713 ext.

222, TTY (603) 466-2856, or the Appalachian Mountain Club at (603) 466-2721.

Trails of the Week

This week's Trails of the Week hike in the White Mountain National Forest will take hikers on the Wild River Trail on Friday, Aug. 13 and to Glen Ellis Falls on Sunday, Aug. 15.

Hike along the Wild River on Aug. 13 with Rangers Mary Jo Kelly and Matt Schomburg and learn about the natural world and the rich history in the hills around you. Meet at the Wild River Campground (at the end of Forest Road 12 off Route 113 in Gilead). This easy hike will last about an hour and will be offered at 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Hike to Glen Ellis Falls on Aug. 15 on the stone steps placed by Civilian Conservation Corpsmen in days gone by. Ranger Jenny Young will talk about the CCC era and the many contributions made in the White Mountain National Forest. Meet at the Glen Ellis Falls parking area on Route 16. This easy hike is 0.6 miles round trip (about 45 minutes), and will be offered at 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Dress for the weather, wear sturdy shoes, and bring plenty of water. Space is limited and reservations must be made in advance. For more information, directions, and reservations call the U.S. Forest Service at (603) 466-2713, TTY (603) 466-2856.

From the

Northern Forest Heritage Park

Local historian Poof Tardiff will share his knowledge of the region with visitors at the Northern Forest Heritage Park. Tardiff will be a guest interpretive guide during the Wednesday 5 p.m. Scenic Heritage Boat Tour on the Androscoggin River on Aug. 18. This special two-hour tour is offered for $15 adults, $10 age 6-12, under 6 free.

According to Administrator Jean Boutin this is a rare opportunity for locals and visitors to hear stories of the history of Berlin, logging, the paper mills, and the working forest, along with the rich cultural history of the region from the local historian extraordinaire. "We are pleased that Poof has agreed to join our Twilight Tour to share his wealth of stories and folklore of the rich history of the Androscoggin Valley as only Poof can," Boutin said. Tardiff will join Boat Captain Bill Flynn on the Park's 12-passenger pontoon boat for the leisurely two-hour tour on the river. Prepaid tickets are available for the limited tours at the Artisans Gift Shop located in the Brown Company House, open daily from noon to 7 p.m. throughout the summer season.

The regular 90-minute Scenic Heritage Boat Tours run Tuesday thru Saturday with departure times of 1, 3 and 5 p.m. with a cost of $10 for adults, $5 for ages 6-12, and under 6 free. The boat is also available for charter with facility rental or for private functions. Charter is available at $50 per hour (two-hour minimum). "The charters provide a great opportunity for civic groups, families and friends to spend a fun time on the river," Boutin said. "The boat can also be chartered on Sunday by advance reservations."

The Northern Forest Heritage Park is on the banks of the Androscoggin River, just north of downtown Berlin, N.H., at 961 Main Street (Route 16). The park is a nonprofit organization with a commitment to tell the stories of the working forest and to celebrate the region's diverse cultural heritage. For other offerings and more information and a free calendar, call (603) 752-7202, or visit www.northern-foresterheritage.org.

Sudbury Canada was Bethel's name from the time of the granting of the township in 1768 until its incorporation in 1796. The early name honored the original grantees from Sudbury, Mass., who had fought unsuccessfully to conquer Canada in 1690. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts rewarded these men with land in the "District of Maine," naming it in honor of their Massachusetts town and the campaign in which they had served. Bethel was never part of Canada. Sudbury Canada Days, the summer heritage festival of the Bethel Historical Society, honors the town's rich heritage dating from the 18th century.

Family reunions

BEAN FAMILY

Heirs of Robert M. Bean, Lillian Bean Smith and Elmer I. Bean held a family reunion at Charlie Bean's field on Sunday River Road Saturday, Aug. 7. Attending from out of state were Tim Prince and two sons, Nate and Joel, from Montana; Mary Ann Chapin from Tennessee; David, Richard and Stephanie Manning from Vermont; Lisa Prince and sons, Benjamin and Caleb, from New Hampshire; Mary Jane and Robert Cusack and Susan from Sudbury, Mass.; Kerry Smith from Massachusetts; Larry Smith from New Hampshire; several relatives from long distances in Maine; and many local family members, making a total of 102.

Northeast genealogist Blaine Mills and wife Margaret, along with conveners Ray Gould, daughter Marie and family were available to discuss, with those interested, background and history of the original Charles D. and Ina B. Bean family.

Linda Clifford, Scottish and Irish merchant of Bethel provided items of clan tartans for family members to buy.

IMAGES FROM OUR PAST

Some of the favorite subjects of noted Greenwood photographer Nettie Maxim were her own children. Here the Maxim children, Walter, Earle and Winnie, are seen carving their jack-o'-lanterns on the front steps of the family farm on Bird Hill in Bethel. Anyone interested in Greenwood photographs should contact the Greenwood Historical Society on Main Street in Locke Mills. The society meets the first Wednesday of every month at 7 p.m. The society home is open to the public every July and August, on Saturday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon. For more information, please call 875-3726.

Obituaries

COLISTA C. MORGAN
Colista C. Morgan, 96, of South Paris, died Monday, Aug. 9, 2004 at Market Square Health Care Center with her sister by her side.

She was born in Greenwood on Aug. 4, 1908, the daughter of Ernest and Lucy Swan Curtis. She graduated from Gould Academy in 1926 and took course work at Gorham Normal School. In 1970 she received an honorary degree from Farmington Teachers College. For 44 years she taught school at Greenwood City School.

She married Clyde Morgan; he passed away in August of 1986.

She was a member of the Maine Teachers Association, the Oxford County Retired Teachers Association, Mission Congregational Church in West Paris and a former member of Delta Kappa Gamma.

She loved hiking, nature and corresponding with her many friends and family members. She truly cared about people. She wrote a column for the Bethel Citizen and published a book about nature and her travels.

She is survived by a sister, Lucy Ridley of Waterford; a sister-in-law, Rena Curtis of Greenwood; in-laws, Leonas and Faye Holt of Greenwood; and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday, Aug. 12, at 2 p.m. at Weston-Chandler Funeral Home, 230 Main Street, Norway, with interment to follow at Wayside Cemetery in West Paris. Remembrance donations can be made to the charity of your choice.

Card of Thanks

Many thanks to everyone who remembered me during my surgery and recuperation. Your prayers and get well wishes are greatly appreciated.
